

ADHA and IDHA are continually working to ensure the viability of the dental hygiene profession.

IDHA represents the interests of all hygienists. To become stronger and more successful, we need to have the support and participation of as many members as possible. Membership and growth in ADHA/IDHA is essential in order to assure the future of both our profession and acceptable levels of oral health of our public.

By maintaining your membership (or by initiating your membership) in ADHA/IDHA, you are a part of a strong professional association.

Click here to use the ADHA RealTime Online resources to renew your membership or to join as a hygienist or dental hygiene student. You must join the national organization, The American Dental Hygienists' Association, in order for your state membership to be in effect.
